Connections…What's the Password?

The Science of Synchronized Relationships

by Toby Brazwell

Connection Strategist / Motivational Speaker

Most of us don't need more contacts. We need deeper connections with the people already around us.

Toby Brazwell

In this 30-minute session, Toby uses chemistry as a lens on relationships: connection has elements, reactions, and catalysts. He starts with a quick overview of his CONNECT™ framework, seven practical moves for building relationships on purpose. The rest of our time is for going deep on a few of the pieces that matter most for a room of business professionals. You will leave with a clear sense of your own value, a few tools you can use the very next day, and a new way to look at the relationships you already have. The message applies to everyone in the room, men and women alike, because every professional is building something they can't build alone.

Toby Brazwell is a Motivational Speaker and Connection Strategist, author, insurance agency leader, podcaster, and hip-hop artist based in Northville/Novi, Michigan. As founder of TBrazCr3ations, he helps organizations and individuals build relationships that drive performance and outlast any single room. His upcoming book, Connections… What's the Password? The Science of Synchronized Relationships, combines science, storytelling, and real-world experience into a practical framework for deeper human connection. Toby brings stage energy, cultural fluency, and a grounded faith to every audience, and his audiences tend to leave moved and ready to act. He is a husband and father, and he believes legacy is measured by the rooms you change, including the ones you've already left.
